

01 What it does to a line

02 What the disk buffer really is

A hiccup safety layer, not durability.

Every input writes to this local disk buffer first. It survives a restart of Fluent Bit and a short network outage.

It does not survive losing the node, and those records are gone. Real durability is a replicated queue, and Kafka is on the roadmap.